Oracle CRM On Demand Email Marketing extends the marketing automation capabilities of Oracle CRM On Demand and enables marketing professionals to easily create and manage comprehensive, professional email campaigns.

Get Professional Results Quickly and Easily

Email Marketing provides organizations a powerful, integrated tool for creating professional-quality email campaigns based on customer information in Oracle CRM On Demand. Marketing professionals are guided through the process of creating rich HTML and text emails. They also have access to powerful conditional messaging capabilities for precise personalization and can track delivery and responses. All this can be done without relying on third-party vendors or tools.

Integrated with Oracle CRM On Demand Campaigns

Email Marketing is seamlessly integrated with Oracle CRM On Demand's Campaign Management functionality, enabling marketing professionals to automatically include recipients from a campaign, schedule delivery, and use advanced market segmentation tools to create lists based on customer data. Additionally, recipient opt-in preferences are automatically referenced in campaigns and contacts to ensure targeted delivery. The result is simple, flexible, and targeted email marketing programs that reach only those recipients you specify.

Personalized HTML Emails

With Email Marketing, marketing professionals can easily create high-impact, highly-personalized messages. A simple wizard enables users to merge fields and conditionally present content based on virtually any combination of customer data from Oracle CRM On Demand. Oracle CRM On Demand also centrally stores templates, documents and images further reducing any dependency on IT organizations to host and maintain them on corporate web resources.

Automatic Delivery and Response Tracking

Email Marketing includes powerful delivery and response capabilities that enable marketing professionals to easily measure, optimize, and analyze program effectiveness. Each opened email, click-through, bounce, and opt-in is automatically captured to provide accurate delivery and response status. Additionally, program dashboards and reports enable marketing professionals to view and assess campaign effectiveness to further refine program tactics. And Oracle's dedicated deliverability team ensures that your email inbox hit rates are always optimized.
